JIG Migrates to New Inspection Tracking System (JITS).

Mandatory training courses now available.

JIG is now in the final stages of preparation for migration to a new start-of-the-art Inspection Tracking System, hosted by EFOS. We expect to go live on the new system on 1st January 2019. The old Geethal system will be discontinued on this date.

The next step is to train users to use the new JITS platform in the coming weeks, prior to migration. Users who fit the below profile need to ensure that they attend a training session as soon as possible:

- Member Co-ordinator (superuser)
- Site Manager
- Area Manager
- Inspector

Each JIG site should nominate at least one person to receive the training to act as a trainer for users at their operation.

JITS training will be taking place on the following dates:

1. 8th November - Lensbury, London (classroom course, 3hrs)
Note: This is the preferred training opportunity and you are encouraged to attend this one if possible.
2. 26th-27th November – (webinars, 2.5hrs each)
3. 29th-30th November – (webinars, 2.5hrs each)

As places on each course will be limited, please book your session as soon as possible to obtain your chosen date.

If you have not yet attended training at either of the workshops in Berlin, please reserve your place as soon as possible by sending an email to both Andrea and Sam:

Andrea Wixey (andrea.wixey@jigonline.com)
