2021 BRINGS PERSONNEL CHANGE TO JIG COUNCIL

Newsflash Number 2021/01

26th February 2021

After four and a half years on JIG Council, Olivia Stone takes on new responsibilities within Air BP, handing her seat to Angel Martinez and her Chair responsibilities to Thomas De Boer.

Thomas De Boer has 19 years within Shell's downstream business.

He is now responsible for Shell Aviation's global operational footprint and Joint Ventures, including related areas such as competence, standards and compliance, engineering, product quality and refuelling infrastructure.

We welcome Thomas to the role of Chair and thank Olivia for her significant contribution, particularly as Chair over the past 2 years.

Angel Martinez, born in Spain and living in Valencia, has an Industrial Engineering background and has worked in Air BP for 15 years as Engineering Lead, Operations Consultant and HSSE/Operations Integrity Manager for South East Europe, the Middle East and Africa. Angel now holds the position of Global Aviation Operations and Joint Ventures Director.

Ian Thurloway takes over the seat from Salman Saadat of Chevron.

After starting in 2000 within the Marine Lubricants Group he moved through different functions and increasing responsibilities within Chevron, including aviation fuel sales, JVs and business development. Ian is now Manager of Operations for EAMESA & Global Marine.
